Another frozen tiger found in capital

HÀ NỘI — Police arrested Phạm Đình Văn, a resident of Thanh Xuân District, on Friday for smuggling a tiger.

Văn admitted to buying the tiger at the border gate Cầu Treo in the central province of Hà Tĩnh for $20,000.

He intended to cook the bones into a medicinal paste to eat for treating his disease. He was captured in action while transporting the animal to his house in Hà Nội.

The tiger, weighing 190 kg, was found cut into five pieces and frozen.

The police also found 6.5kg of animal bone glue at Văn's house. — VNS
